The Settlers Canada Wants

The figures of the recent census reinforces the fairly well recognized fact that one of Canada's needs is a larger population. With an area larger than that of the United States, with millions of the best agricultural lands in the world, and undeveloped natural resources of wealth beyond all human computation, this Dominion has a population comparable to that of little European countries like Belgium.

Reference has been made to this outstanding Canadian problem on more than one occasion in this column, and while it is not necessary to repeat facts and figures, nor dwell at any great length on all the undoubted advantages which a substantial increase in Canada's population would bring to every man, woman and child now in the country, it may be well to continue urging the necessity for the adoption of a far-seeing, businesslike and aggressive national policy designed to meet Canada's needs in this respect.

Recently two important speeches were delivered in Eastern Canada on this subject, and in both instances commonsense views were expressed and sound advice given. One such address was delivered by Sir Clifford Sifton before the Toronto Board of Trade, and it must be admitted that if there is any man in Canada qualified to speak on the subject of population, and the relation of immigration thereto, it is Sir Clifford Sifton. He has had practical experience in handling the problem, and, while mistakes may have been made under his administration, he certainly succeeded in obtaining results to a greater degree that any other man before or since his regime as Minister of the Interior.

Sir Clifford showed he had little sympathy with many of the pet theories which find acceptance in some quarters these days. There is, in his opinion, but one way to accomplish the desired results, and that is to go after stalwart agricultural settlers, bring them to Canada, and put them on the farms where they can make good. He is absolutely and unalterably opposed to bringing in immigrants by the million without reference to their ability to "make good" on the land. Half a million agricultural settlers of the right type are, in his opinion, worth ten million of other classes. Settlers on the land would establish homes here and would bring about a natural permanent increase in population. Settlers of other classes if brought in would inevitably find their way to the cities, and create new and difficult problems, or would drift to the United States.

The second address to which reference is made was by Professor C. R. Fay, of Toronto University, on the subject "Principles of a Sound Immigration Policy." Like Sir Clifford Sifton he strongly urged a policy of going after and getting settlers of the agricultural labor class. At the same time he argued that good agricultural laborers could be obtained in the Old Country from a wider class than that of the farmers and farm laborers, if they are given the necessary training. He held, therefore, that Canada's immigration policy should provide for the giving of such training, and in this connection instanced the success achieved in so many instances by soldier settlers under the Soldier Settlement Board. He advocated the extension of this policy for the direction of land settlement as a whole.

Professor Fay summed up modern conditions of successful settlement as requiring:

1. Land with reasonable marketing facilities.

2. The right kind of land for the settler and the right kind of crops for the land.

3. Sufficient capital; some settlers might be able to provide the whole for themselves, but assistance in the shape of loans would probably be required in most cases.

The first essential to holding good settlers on the land was the right policy of land settlements. The second was the reconstruction of rural life around various forms of co-operative enterprise. Co-operation means, he said, better business, better farming, and a better country life.

The old policy of bringing settlers into the country and then leaving them to shift for themselves will not do. They must be assisted in establishing themselves and taught as to the methods which make for success in this country. Furthermore, hand in hand with, or rather in advance of, the adoption of an aggressive policy to obtain this type of settlers, there must be action by the Federal Government to ensure to the people, now on the land and to those who will come, adequate markets and marketing facilities to the end that the results of their labor may yield a reasonable profit over costs of production and as a reward for the labor given and the capital invested.

Portraits of Saints Discovered in Rome

Expert Believes the Paintings Were Made from Life

What are believed to be contemporary portraits of St. Peter and St. Paul have been discovered in a hypogeum, or underground structure of the Roman epoch. The belief in their authenticity is shared by the well-known archaeologist, Prof. Lanitani.

The hypogeum was found in the course of excavations for a building of a large garage. It comprises a number of rooms and galleries, a crypt, and a Christian Church with marvellous frescoes of a very early date. The professor believes the portraits were painted from life.

The Prince and Education

Laying a Solid Foundation for Future Government

"Let us keep undimmed our love for learning, for hard work, for discipline and order, and for friendly co-operation." Thus spoke the Prince of Wales to the University youth of India. To understand the point of view of the youth of India, to know their aspirations, to let them have insight into the ideals of the British Empire is good work on the Prince's part. The Prince of Wales by adopting such a wise procedure and chosing his language so aptly is laying a solid foundation for future government. SPRING WEATHER HARD ON BABY

The Canadian spring weather—one day mild and bright; the next raw and blustery is extremely hard on the baby. Conditions are such that the mother cannot take the little one out for the fresh air so much to be desired. He is confined to the house which is so often over-heated and badly ventilated. He catches cold; his little stomach and bowels become disordered and the mother soon has a sick baby to look after. To prevent this an occasional dose of Baby's Own Tablets should be given. They regulate the stomach and bowels, thus preventing or banishing colds, simple fevers, colic or any other of the many minor ailments of childhood. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

England's Crops Smaller

Cultivated Land 781,000 Acres Less Than in 1918

A reduction of 781,000 acres in the cultivated land in England and Wales is shown by Ministry of Agriculture's statistics for 1921. The reduction is figured from the total of 12,339,000 acres in 1918 when the area was greatly increased owing to the food production campaign.

The total acreage sown to wheat in 1921 was 1,976,000 acres, or 101,000 over 1920.

Germany's War Losses

Approximately One in Seven Killed in Battle, Statistician Finds

Forty-six men were killed and 109 were wounded on the German side during every hour the world war was raging, according to an estimate arrived at by General von Altrock, a statistician. This estimate was made from a study of official records.

Germany's losses totalled in dead 1,808,545 and in wounded 4,246,779. Men to the number of 13,000,000 were under arms during the course of the war, of whom about one in seven was killed in battle.

The officers' corps lost 53,000 men killed and 96,000 wounded. German soldier and civilian losses through death, caused directly or indirectly by the war, are estimated by General von Altrock, at 12,000,000.

Minard's Liniment for Coughs and Colds

JOSEPH DRAKE

"When I say that I weigh twenty-five pounds more than I did a short time ago it speaks volumes for the merit of Tanlac," said Jos. B. Drake, 430 Belmont Ave., Springfield, Mass.

"The first thing Tanlac did for me was to give me an appetite and tone up my stomach. It wasn't long before I was eating things I hadn't dared touch for years and anyone to see the hearty way I eat now would find it hard to believe that a few weeks ago I was dyspeptic and living on the lightest kind of diet.

"Another good thing Tanlac did for me was to drive the rheumatism almost entirely out of my system. In fact, I can truthfully say it has made me feel like a new man in every way. It certainly is a grand medicine."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

NEWS FROM THE OTHER SIDE

Interesting Letter From Woman in South Africa

Johannesburg, South Africa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness and because I felt run down. I tried a lot of medicines before I tried yours. One day I was standing on my stoop when a boy came up to me and handed me one of your little books. I read the book and the next day my husband went to the chemist's and bought me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken the medicine ever since and I feel quite strong and well now as I am on the sixth bottle. I have written to my sister and told her all about the wonders it has done for me, and I am quite willing for you to use my name as I can not thank you enough for what it has done for me."—Mrs. W. F. Rush, 6128 6th Ave., Mayfair, Fordesburg, Johannesburg, South Africa.

It is this sort of praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, given by letter or verbally, one woman to another, that ought to commend this splendid medicine to you.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine for women's ailments (in use nearly fifty years), and the fact that it has helped thousands of other women, should cause you to give it a trial now. It can be safely taken by any woman—young or old.

World Requires Every Bushel Of Grain To Tide Over Present Shortage

For years the farmers have been led to believe that the secret of prosperity was increased population, and when they had gained that purpose they were led to view their accumulated stock and told that the reason why they were not prosperous was because they had produced too much and they ought to curtail their efforts.

On the face of this advice it is difficult to know what to do. Considering the fact the world needs every bushel of grain and still there will be barely enough to tide us over until the next crop, American agriculture can never attain a prosperous state if it does not continue to be a surplus producing agriculture. In fact the security of our country lodges on this consideration. Every time the farmer is led to adopt a short sighted policy as to his business conduct, agriculture is deprived of so much vitality. The remedy does not lie in increasing production on one crop at the expense of another and then revising the process and rushing in the opposite direction.

The farmer should consider his business as a whole, and be long sighted enough to look ahead of the immediate conditions confronting him. The remedy lies in efficient farming, and that means, first upon production; because all income, all wages, are based upon production. Production must be stabilized as much as possible in the particular crops which the soil and locality will produce most efficiently. Having produced his crop, the farmer must then take the proper steps to market and distribute his products efficiently, for marketing and distributing are as much a part of efficient production as the actual planting of the seed and growing the crop.

The fact then seems to remain that the surest and safest course for the farmer to follow is to continue business as heretofore, and take proper steps all along the line to insure efficient production. Every proper encouragement should be given to the co-operative marketing programmes; they have proven very helpful to the co-operating communities of Europe.

Past experience has taught the farmer to steer clear of the theorists and the amateur economists who are perfectly willing to test their theories on the farmers in regard to curtailing production. This is evidenced in the fact that prices on most all farm products have been going upward continuously for the past few months.

In considering these facts, it would then seem that the trouble has been in lack of co-operation and in financial arrangements between countries, and the fact that prices on all farm production is steadily raising, would indicate that better co-operative arrangements are being gradually affected. All these things then point to the fact that we have not been guilty of over production. Whatever may happen in the near future, you may rest assured that the farms organized and conducted on the highest plane are going to show the most profit to owners.

Take a leaf from the experience of successful business men. It offers the safest course, and the first thing the business man does when threatened with new and serious difficulties, is to clean all the dead and down timber off his shelves. The first "dead timber" the farmer has is his waste and wasted acres.

Having the producing side efficiently in hand, then comes the marketing and distributing side of the problem. One cannot be efficient without the other.

Lower Rates on Potatoes

By arrangements made by the Alberta Agricultural Department and the Freight Traffic Department of the Provincial Government, with the Canadian Freight Association, the railways have reduced freight rates on potatoes from the northern part of the province, whereby there will be a 45 cent rate from Edmonton to Vancouver, and a 60 cent rate from Edmonton to Minneapolis. Under this arrangement a great quantity of Edmonton district's surplus potato crop is being marketed.

Learning from the Past

The Zeppelin Is a Thing of Evil Repute

Does Washington learn nothing from the past? Doesn't it realize that on its record the dirigible is clumsy, unreliable, tricky and extravagant? Doesn't it see that as an instrument of the army or the navy the dirigible is outclassed by the sturdy, swift and reliable plane? Doesn't it see that the United States is taking up something already discarded as a weapon by the wiest Europeans? We have had two of these big balloons, and both were hailed as marvels of science. They were nothing of the kind. They were merely bags of death. Now the Germans are about to build a third one for us. To make assurance doubly sure—for the undertaker—the House sees to it that there will be no helium. Morally and physically the Zeppelin is a thing of evil repute. Its only successes have been the devil's own—the bombing of peaceful towns and the killing of women and children. Why should a civilized nation use it at all?—New York Tribune.

Hid Money in Gun

French Peasant Chose Wrong Place for Secreting Notes

The ingenuity of French peasants in hiding money has surpassed itself in the case of a man near Lorient who received a 1,000 franc note and a 500 franc note in payment for produce. He hid them in the muzzles of his double barreled shotgun, believing that would be the last place thieves would search for money.

He made a mistake, however, in not taking his wife into the secret. A neighbor called at a later date, in the absence of the man of the house, and asked for the loan of the gun to get a hare.

The hare escaped and when the peasant came in that evening his wife remarked that the neighbor must be a very bad shot.

"Why?" the peasant asked.

"Because he used both charges of your gun on a hare without hitting it."

"My shotgun?" inquired the peasant with a gasp, at the same time making for the corner where the weapon hung.

The civil court of the Department of Morbihan will have to decide the delicate point of law whether the neighbor is responsible for the loss of the 1,500 francs.

Paint Used By Ancients

Earliest Reference Traced Back to Seventh Century A.D.

Paint is not a modern invention; indeed, white lead is of ancient origin. The story is told of the wife of the famous Greek General Xenophen, who had the habit of smearing white lead on her face and wearing high heels until her husband told her he thought her pretty enough as she was without the application of artificial aids to beauty. There is a reference traced back as far as the Seventh Century, A.D., which is the first recorded instance of the use of paint to cover a wooden carriage, very much in the manner prevalent today. There are earlier historical mentions of the use of paint, but these refer more to sizes, such as glue, and special paints such as those made with wax and used by the Romans in admixture with glue to paint their ships of war. The Egyptians used glue sizes and varnishes. The mummy cases in museums indicate that clearly and probably form the earliest examples of varnished articles in existence.

Californian Prefers Ontario Peaches

Ontario peaches are better than California peaches according to Aaron Sapiro, co-operative expert of that State, who addressed a large audience of fruit growers at St. Catherines, Ont. Mr. Sapiro is reported to have said that by employing the right methods in co-operative marking Niagara district should acquire an equal measure of commercial prosperity on tender fruits with California.

Making Air Flying Easy

Airplane Can Soon be Managed Like Motor Car

The day is apparently at hand when the navigation of an airplane will require no more skill and self-reliance than does the driving of a motor car.

A flight has recently been made from London to Paris and back, during which, for two consecutive hours, the pilot was enabled to depend entirely upon an automatic mechanical control for everything but the actual direction by means of the steering wheel.

More recently a French investor has produced a mechanical pilot by means of which all control except the actual steering is done either automatically or by readily made adjustments. The device has attracted a great deal of attention in England, where elaborate tests are now being made at both government and private airdromes.

This machine is so arranged that the pilot can retain personal control of the ailerons and elevator, as well as of the engine plant and rudder, as long as he likes, and also has the means, whenever he desires, to turn over to the automatic system the control of the ailerons and elevator simultaneously, or of the ailerons alone—but not the elevator alone—and in addition he can cut out both automatic controls, and use indicators that are installed on the dashboard of the airplane cockpit as an index as regards horizontality.

It is more than a means of relieving the pilot from fatigue, for, when flying through clouds or fog he need no longer fear that he is "banking" unintentionally, while for landing, the control can be set so that the machine will descend at a predetermined angle thus removing one of the dangers of night flying.

Big Immigration Plan

Will Sell Land to Settlers on Long Payments

An important meeting of the subcommittee of the cabinet on immigration was held recently which was also attended by Col. J. S. Dennis, W. G. Annable and C. E. Ussher, of the C.P.R.; Messrs. Hays and Melanson, of the Canadian National; and ex-Mayor Brown of Medicine, and F. D. L. Smith representing the Western Canada Colonization Society. It looks very much as though the latter's plan of selling land for individual holders on long term payments to prospective settlers in the U.S. and Britain would be endorsed and strongly supported by the Government and the railways. A special effort will be made to get tenant farmers in the United States. It is not thought that the Government will assist immigration by grants. The railway companies, however, will undoubtedly grant the old rates to settlers. It is probable that a big campaign will soon be launched to get the class already mentioned.

Royalties on Furs in Saskatchewan

$20,000 represents the collection of royalties on furs taken by trappers in Saskatchewan. Royalties of this kind have never before been collected by Saskatchewan and it was at the last session of the Legislature that power was given to collect these tolls. It is expected that the new arrangement will net the province an additional $20,000 in revenue each year.

Pathetic

The German citizen, statistics for 1921 shows, pays less than a third the amount of taxes paid by the French citizen. Poor Germany! And there are hard-hearted people who think she should pay her debts!—Philadelphia Evening Ledger.

The Alexander Hamilton Institute of New York has published a lecture given by Mr. E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co., entitled "The Springs of Business Activity," from which the following has been culled:

"What should be the relation of the state to the individual in our modern civilization? Many philosophers have discussed the relations of state and individual in an ideal world. I am not a philosopher, but a business man, and my interest is in the immediate present.

"The world as we know it is at constant war, not so much a war between nation and nation as a war of man against nature. The world is getting to be more populous, and its peoples must be clothed and fed. Incidentally, the nations into which mankind has grouped itself may war upon each other in the desire to control for their own needs new or old sources of merchandise and of production, but the dynamic spirit underlying human activities is the desire to preserve the human race.

"In this New World of North America, the struggle of man against nature is more obvious, perhaps, than in the Old World, where income sufficient for food, clothing and considerable comfort is considered by so many as their undisputed heritage. We, over here, live among pioneers and the sons of pioneers, who have homesteaded, cleared their own farms, prospected for and discovered mines, started business in a wilderness and seen the wilderness become a city. We realize, perhaps, more readily than the philosophers of the more complex Old World how much we owe to individual energy in this war against nature. The continent of North America has been civilized and adapted to the needs of man by the enterprise of sturdy individuals and not by state officials.

"With the struggle for existence disguised under the polite forms of settled and organized communities, it is still to men of vision and imagination that we owe our progress. The history of Canada and the United States is full of instances of men who have risen to commanding positions in the world of affairs by the force of personal merit. Mount Stephen, Carnegie and Edison are typical of the spirit of leadership which has made the civilization of our continent what it is. In all fields of business life we owe much to the indomitable energy of leaders, who, with a fair field and unhampered by tradition, have won their way to the front. In new countries the individual seems to have opportunities denied him in older nations.

"In the largest company or in the most complex corporation the driving power of the individual is the keynote of progress.

"There is, however, a danger of the human race in unrestricted individualism. 'Every man for himself' is not only a selfish policy; it may imperil the harmony, indeed, the safety, of the community. Man as a social animal has a duty, not only to himself, but also to his neighbors. The business man or business company in a complex community or state has a similar duty to the public. The work of that man or company is ultimately for the preservation and benefit of his community, and while that work is most energetically prosecuted, if done in the spirit of individual, it fails of its purpose if it is prosecuted to the detriment of the community or race as a whole.

Forest Land in Quebec

The total area of forest land in the province of Quebec is 450,337,761 acres, or 703,653 square miles, according to the Provincial Lands and Forests Department. This does not include the Ungava territory annexed in 1912, which practically doubles the surface. According to the last census taken in 1911, the properties belonging to private individuals, companies and communities, covered at that time were 15,613,267 acres.

The Homesteaders

ROBERT J. C. STEAD

"I heard him say something about Mr. Harris losing all his money that night, in the old shanty up the river road. 'Strange things have happened up there, Riles,' he said. That made me suspicious, and I hurried back to the ranch, determined to follow them. I found that my revolver had been taken. I armed myself as best I could, and set out. When I came near the building which Gardiner had mentioned I dismounted and approached it carefully. It was very dark. Suddenly I was attacked from behind. A sack was thrown over my head, and I was overpowered and bound. I don't know how long I was kept in that condition, but when at last the sack was removed I was in the presence of Sergeant Grey."

With the progress of Travers' narrative all eyes had turned to Gardiner, but, whatever his inward emotions, he outwardly showed no signs of discomfiture. "This seems to be a day of strange tales," he said to the coroner, "and the last we have heard is stranger than the first. Of course, it is quite absurd on the face of it. The suggestion that I would be a party to robbing Mr. Harris of twenty thousand dollars, and that a transaction in which I stood to make a profit of more than twice that amount, is too ridiculous for discussion. I didn't say so before, because it didn't seem to bear on the case, but I have at home a telegram which I received a few days ago from the New York Investors, offering me a personal commission of twenty per cent. on the transaction if I was able to get this property for them at the price they had offered. So, from a purely selfish point of view, you see where my interests lay. But there are other reasons for this fine tale which you have just heard. To spare the feelings of some present, I intended to say nothing of them, but if I must tell what I know, why, I must tell what I know. This man Travers was a farm hand working for Harris on his farm back in Manitoba. Harris is—or was—well-to-do, and Travers accordingly mustered up an attachment for his daughter. This the young lady, it seems, was foolish enough to return. They——"

"That'll do, Gardiner," interrupted Travers, in a quiet, vibrant voice. "You are getting away from the subject."

"On the contrary, I'm getting close to the subject—a little too close for your comfort, it seems."

"I am not investigating any family closets," said the coroner. "You will have to show the connection between these matters and the inquiry we are making."

"I will do that in a moment, sir," Gardiner returned. "But I cannot show the connection until I have shown the events that are connected. Travers had trouble with Harris and had a fight with Allan. Then he and the young lady ran away. They have both been in this part of the country for some time. But Travers' plan to inherit the Harris property was upset on account of the girl quarrelling with her parents, and his ardour seems to have cooled off noticeably. But he was as keen for the property as ever. Riles was a weakling in the hands of a man like Travers, and no doubt he betrayed the fact that Harris was taking his money with him into the hills. Then the two of them framed up the plan which has resulted in the death of one and the arrest of the other."

During these exchanges the sympathies of the jurors seemed to veer from side to side. The theories propounded were so contradictory that opinions wavered with each sentence of evidence. But a new bolt was ready for the shooting.

"Mr. Coroner," said Beulah, rising and pointing at Gardiner, "will you make that man take his gauntlets off?"

There seemed an instant recession of the blood from Gardiner's face. But it was for the instant only. "My hat is off," he said, with a smile. "Is not that sufficient?"

"Make him take them off!" Beulah insisted.

"There is no rule against wearing gauntlets in a coroner's court," said the coroner. "I do not see the point of your objection."

"Make him take them off," said Beulah.

"As the young lady insists," said the coroner, turning to Gardiner, "I suggest that you comply with her request."

"I should be glad to," said Gardiner, "but the fact is I have a sore hand. When I was giving the horse medicine the night Travers left me alone the brute nipped me a little, and I have been keeping it covered up since."

"Mak him take them off," said Beulah.

"Make him take them off," said Beu- said the coroner. "Surely it makes no difference——"

"Only this difference. You have heard my father's evidence of the fight in the old house. The man with whom he fought will have tooth-marks in his hand. Make him take them off. Or if you won't—look at these hands." She seized Jim's hands in hers and held them up before the coroner and the jury. "Any tooth-marks there? Now make this other man show his."

For a moment all eyes were on Travers' hands. In that moment Gardiner rushed for the open window, and in another instant would have been through it, had not the quick arm of the policeman intercepted.

"Not so fast, my man," said Grey. "Now we will see this horse-bite of yours." Gardiner made no further resistance, and he drew the glove from his hand. There was a fresh scar on the right thumb.

The coroner examined it carefully. When he spoke it was in the voice of a judge delivering sentence. "That is not a horse-bite," he said. "Those are the marks of human teeth!"

Gardiner smiled a faint smile. "Well, what are you going to do about it?" he said.

"We are going to put you in Travers' place and tender him our apologies," said the coroner.

"Very good," said Gardiner. "And do I marry the girl?"

"This is no time for levity," said the coroner, sternly. "You have escaped a murder charge only by grace of this young man's excellent constitution."

But Travers had crowded into the centre of the circle. "Gardiner," he said, "if you weren't under arrest I'd thrash you here and now. But you can at least do something to square yourself. Where is that money?"

"That's right, Jim. Everyone thinks of what is nearest his heart."

"You scoundrel! You know why it is near my heart. You have robbed Mr. Harris of all that he had spent his whole life for. You will have no chance to use that money yourself. You are sure of your living for the next twenty years. Why not show that you are not all bad—that you have some human sentiments in you? It seems as little as you can do."

"There may be something in what you say," said Gardiner. "I have a slip of paper here with the key to the secret."

He reached with his finger and thumb in his vest pocket and drew out a small folded paper. This he unfolded very slowly and deliberately before the eyes of the onlookers. It contained a small quantity of white powder. Before any hand could reach him he had thrown his head back and swallowed it.

"Too late!" he cried, as Grey snatched the empty paper from his fingers. "Too late! Well, I guess I beat you all out, eh? And, as I said before, what are you going to do about it? Twenty years, eh, Jim? You'll be scawny and rheumatic by that time, and the beautiful Beulah will be fat and figureless. Twenty years for you, Jim, but twenty minutes for me—and I wouldn't trade with you, damn you! I beg the pardon of the ladies present. One should never forget to be a gentleman, even when—when——"

But Gardiner's breath was beginning to come fast, and he raised his hands to his throat. A choking spell seized him, and he would have fallen had not the policeman and the coroner held him on his feet. "Let me lie down," he said, when he got his breath. "Let me lie down, can't you? Have I got to die on end, like a murderer?"

They led him to the adjoining room, where he fell upon the bed. The muscles of his great arms and neck were working in contortions, and his tongue seemed to fill his mouth.

"Most extraordinary," said the coroner. "Strychnine, doubtless. We can't do much for him, I'm afraid. We might try some mustard and hot water, Mrs. Arthurs."

"Take your time, Lil," whispered Arthurs. "You may save your country a long board bill." But Lilian Arthurs' abhorrence of Gardiner's perfidy had been overwhelmed in a wave of sympathy for a suffering fellow-being. She hurried to the kitchen, while the men of the party filed down the stairs and out into the yard. John Harris was the last to leave the house, and he walked slowly, with bare, bowed head, into the group who were excitedly discussing the amazing turn events had taken. He took no part in their conversation, but stood a little apart, plunged deep in his own inward struggle.

At last he turned and called his wife in the kitchen door. "Bring Beulah," he said.

The two women joined him. At first Harris stood with face averted, but in a moment he spoke in a clear, quiet voice.

The Kidneys

The office man and the outdoor worker suffer alike from derangements of the kidneys.

Backaches and headaches are among the symptoms. In some cases Bright's disease soon develops, others suffer from high blood pressure until hardening of the arteries sets in.

In order to forestall painful and fatal diseases prompt action should be taken at the first sign of trouble.

Mr. A. D. MacKinnon, Kirkwood, Inverness county, N.S., writes:

"I can highly recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to all suffering from weak kidneys. I suffered from kidney disease for a long time. I may also say that for three years I was nearly always troubled with headaches, and no treatment seemed to do more than afford temporary relief. I was finally told of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and after using a few boxes was completely relieved. I have also used Dr. Chase's Ointment with the best results, and never fail to recommend these wonderful remedies."

Amendment To Dominion Elections Act Affecting The Franchise Of Women

Ottawa.—The first private member's motion of the session was carried without division in the House and will entail an amendment to the Dominion Elections Act, affecting the franchise of women. The enfranchisement to the foreign-born woman, naturalized by marriage to a Canadian, was particularly at issue. Under a subsection of the act as it stands, such a woman unless born on the continent of North America must obtain a certificate from a judge before she is entitled to vote.

W. D. Euler (Liberal, North Waterloo), led the discussion. As he has done in previous sessions, Mr. Euler sought an expression of opinion from the House that the sub-section should be struck from the act. He claimed that it had disfranchised thousands. It placed the woman born in France or Belgium in a position inferior to that of the Mexican or American, educated or uneducated, black or white. The sub-section, it was emphasized by Conservatives, was directed against women from Germany and Austria, although Hon. Hugh Guthrie, former solicitor-general, who piloted the act through the House, admitted that the reasons for the clause which existed two or three years ago were not so strong today.

Miss Agnes MacPhail entered the discussion. She held that women wanted equal rights under the franchise. Her remarks, to the amusement of the House, occasioned a reply from ex-Mayor T. L. Church, of Toronto, who informed Miss MacPhail that she did not represent "all the women in this country."

Premier King indicated his approval of the resolution and announced that if it received also the approval of the House, the Government would give effect to it by an amendment to the Dominion Elections Act.

After nearly three hours' discussion, the House gave its approval. The next step will be the submission of the Government amending bill.

Basilica of St. Anne Destroyed by Fire

Short Circuit in Electric Wiring Said to be Cause

Quebec.—As a result of the fire which broke out at Ste. Anne de Beaupre only the gaunt ruins of the majestic cathedral which marked the site of the far-famed shrine, where pilgrims have worshipped for more than three centuries, are left standing. While the monastery and the college are also a mass of desolate debris. The monetary loss involved is estimated at $1,200,000, while the insurance carried will probably reach the sum of $500,000.

Although no definite plans have yet been announced by the Redemptorist Fathers, it was stated that as soon as possible work will be started to rebuild the venerable pile and it was said that it would be constructed on a larger and even more imposing scale than the building which has just been destroyed. The cause of the fire is attributed to a short circuit in the electric wiring.

Research Work to Counteract Grasshoppers

Looking for Diminution of this Menace in the West

Ottawa.—A diminution of the grasshopper menace in the western provinces during the coming crop season is looked for by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, according to answers given to a question in the House by O. R. Gould (Assiniboia).

Hon. W. R. Motherwell stated that in Manitoba from evidence at hand it was anticipated that grasshoppers would be less in evidence than they were during 1921. In Saskatchewan a further outbreak was expected, but the chief outbreak apparently would be in Alberta in which province there was a heavy egg deposition in 1921, which, it was expected, would result in an important infestation of hoppers in 1922, particularly in the sections immediately north of the main line of the Canadian Northern Railway.

It was the intention of the Government to continue research work with a view to finding means to counteract the damage caused by the grasshoppers, wheat stem saw fly, rust and cut worm.

Further experiments with chlorine gas as an insect destroyer would not be made, as previous experiments with this gas indicated that the remedy was too expensive, Mr. Motherwell added.

Allied Supreme Council Expected To Meet Again In The Near Future

Paris.—The Allied Supreme Council is likely to meet again in the near future, it is believed here, as a result of the German chancellor's refusal of conditions attached by the reparations commission to the moratorium granted Germany on her reparations payments.

The Chancellor's reply will come before the reparations commission first, but that body, lacking the power to take any coercive measures, will again refer the question to the Allies.

Too many complications are involved, it is believed, to permit of an agreement on a plan of action being reached through the Allied diplomatic representatives, and it is thought in the best informed Allied circles that Premier Poincare, therefore, will probably be obliged to consent to a meeting of the supreme council. An exchange of views will take place preparatory to this meeting, which may precede the general Genoa conference.

The French semi-official opinion is that Chancellor Wirth has been obliged to switch his position as did Dr. Simons before him, in order to maintain his majority, and that he has become thoroughly committed to resistance to the Allies.

Regina, Sask.—W. A. Wilson, general manager of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries, has been appointed one of two delegates to represent Canada at the forthcoming conference of world agriculturists to be held in Rome, Italy.

The appointment of the two delegates is made by the Dominion Government, and Mr. Wilson has just received advice of his appointment. He will leave here about April 15 en route to the sunny south, to take part in this most important conference.

Mr. Wilson was formerly dairy commisisoner for the Government of Saskatchewan.

Railway News in Brief

Edmonton.—Grain is still coming into Edmonton in large quantities from towns along the line of the Edmonton, Dunvegan & British Columbia Railway. From the Berwyn extension and from other northern points, the movement has been of sufficient volume to tax the accommodation in the way of freight cars to the limit, and there is no indication that this large movement will not continue. Much grain is still being loaded in preparation for shipment.

Winnipeg.—Stimulated by special rates from Eastern Canada and the United States tourist traffic to the Coast will be fairly good this summer, in the opinion of C. E. MacPherson, assistant passenger traffic manager, Canadian Pacific Railway, with headquarters in Winnipeg. There will be no general reduction of passenger fares over the Canadian Pacific, Mr. MacPherson thinks. Special round trip tourist tickets should make their appearance about the middle of May.

Calgary.—P. L. Naismith, manager of the Department of Natural Resources of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Calgary recently visited Montreal in connection with the proposed bringing of members of the Royal Irish Constabulary to settle on Alberta lands. In connection with this matter a meeting will be held in Winnipeg at the end of March. Amongst those who will attend this meeting are Sir Augustus Nanton, D. C. Coleman, Colonel J. T. Dennis, and Mr. George Walker, solicitor, Calgary. It is expected that some decision will be reached at this meeting.

Invermere. — Mr. Conrad Kain, Alpine guide at present residing at Wilmer, has received a flattering offer to join the second expedition which is being formed to ascend Mount Everest, the giant peak of the Himalayas. Before coming to this section Mr. Kain was an official guide in the Austrian Tyrol. He was brought out here by the C. P. R. as one of the qualified persons to lead Alpinists in their climbs in the peaks of the Canadian Rockies. He has climbed peaks in all parts of the world. Owing to personal reasons he is unable to accept the tempting offer which has been made to him.

St. John.—With a total of 9,455,860 bushels of grain shipped from West St. John by the C. P. R. last week and 1,500,000 in the elevators, besides 94 carloads on track, prospects are that the total volume of cereal exported from the West Side this season will not be less than 12,000,000 bushels. The grain handled this season includes all varieties with the exception of flax and peas. A small quantity of buckwheat has been handled. Last season, to date, 6,227,297 bushels of grain were exported and for the whole season, which lasted until June, 9,004,160 bushels were shipped.

The C. P. R. elevator crew achieved a record for February, sending out a total of 3,719,891 in the 23 days, the best output ever recorded for the second month of the year.

Vancouver. — The new Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Australia," it is announced, will be placed in service early this summer. Her first trans-Pacific trip is scheduled to start from Hong Kong for Vancouver on June 29 and from Vancouver and Victoria for the Orient on July 27.

The "Empress of Australia" is practically a new ship, having been in the builder's hands at the outbreak of the war. She has lately been converted into an oil-burner, and is similar in equipment and standard to the "Empress of Scotland." A twin-screw steamship of 19,500 gross tons, 590 feet in length, 75.2 in breadth and 41.5 in depth, the "Empress of Australia" will prove a notable addition to the company's Pacific fleet, which already maintains the quickest time across the Pacific with the well-known 16,850-ton liners "Empress of Russia" and "Empress of Asia." She is expected to maintain a speed of 22 knots, and will be able to accommodate 410 first class, 130 second class, 330 third class and 1,000 Asiatic steerage passengers.

Melon-Growing in the Okanagan

There is a certain market-gardener at Summerland, a little settlement on the shores of the Okanagan Lake in British Columbia, who has made his ten acres famous for canteloupes, egg-plants and peppers. He has five acres of canteloupes from which last season he shipped 1,200 crates averaging $3.00 gross per crate.

They are grown on the usual "hill" system 5 x 5 ft. apart and well-rotted mixed farmyard manure is applied in the spring. Great care has to be taken when irrigating the melons as they won't stand being chilled.

The grower's "long suit" is saving his own seed and he has bred distinct strains of peppers, cucumbers and melons. The "Hoodoo" canteloupe is improving every year.

The seed is sown under glass in mid-April and is transplanted twice before being set out in the field between the 5th and 10th of June. It is then ready to fruit at the end of August.

Egg-plants and peppers are profitable, too, in a small way, and about ¼ acre of the first and ½ acre of the latter is grown and shipped regularly to certain stores in localities that have acquired a taste for these dainties.

From ½ acre of early slicing cucumbers the grower makes at least 3 pickings in the season, taking from 110-125 boxes at each picking. These average a clear profit of 90 cents per box, the prices varying from 60 cents up to $2.00 according to season.

Another highly profitable line followed by the same grower is early lettuce under glass. Last Christmas I saw one of the greenhouses (18 x 40) full of lettuce for the Christmas trade around Summerland alone, about $150.00 of it and this will command a sure and steady market.—H. G. W.

Importance Of The Automobile

The 420,000 automobiles in Canada covered a road mileage in 1920 which exceeded 1,680,000,000 and registered a passenger mileage of not less than 6,920,000,000. The steam and electric railroads of the Dominion combined carried but 629,121,000, according to S. L. Squire of the Canadian Good Roads Association. The number of passengers carried is 252,000,000 annually.

Nowhere else in the world is electricity power so generally used as in Switzerland. In the small town of Lucerne, with only 40,000 inhabitants, to take one example, only twenty small houses are without electric light. There are seven electric bakehouses, 1,000 electric motors, 3,500 electric stoves for heating, 2,000 electric cooking stoves and over 5,000 electric irons in use among the inhabitants.

A GOOD MEDICINE FOR THE SPRINGTIME

Do Not Use Harsh Purgatives—A Tonic is All You Need

Not sick—but not feeling quite well. That is the way most people feel in the spring. Easily tired, appetite fickle, sometimes headaches and a feeling of depression. Pimples or eruptions may appear on the skin, or there may be twinges of rheumatism or neuralgia. Any of these indicate that the blood is out of order—that the indoor life of winter has left its mark upon you and may easily develop into more serious trouble.

Do not dose yourself with purgatives, as so many people do, in the hope that you can put your blood right. Purgatives gallop through the system and weaken instead of giving strength. Any doctor will tell you this is true. What you need in the spring is a tonic that will enrich the blood and build up the nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do this speedily, safely and surely. Every dose of this medicine helps to enrich the blood which clears the skin, strengthens the appetite and makes tired, depressed men, women and children bright, active and strong. Miss S. L. McEachron, Nairn P.O., N.B., says: "I have been in the habit of taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the spring and they keep me in the best of health. I think it is entirely due to the use of these pills that I always have such good health."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Here Is Something Smart.

Very chic is this dress and one that will be found to meet the general needs of milady. It can be worn to business or as a sport dress, and is a very practical model for the spring and early summer. The capelike back adds materially to its smartness. It is of black, with Roman stripes. The hat, which is of black straw, is adorned with black quills.

Mexico rope-soled shoes are now sold in England, and for dry weather wear they are said to be cool and comfortable.

There is nothing repulsive in Miller's Worm Powders, and they are as pleasant to take as sugar, so that few children will refuse them. In some cases they cause vomiting through their action in an unsound stomach, but this is only a manifestation of their cleansing power, no indication that they are hurtful. They can be thoroughly depended upon to clear worms from the system.

New Variety of Wheat

Oregon Man Evolves Wheat With Smut-Rust Resistance

Wheat, totally resistant to smut or rust, heretofore unknown to plant pathologists, has been evolved, as a result of experiments conducted at the Government Experimental Station in Oregon, by B. E. Stephens, superintendent, and his assistants. He has succeeded in producing four distinct varieties of wheat that are completely immune from smut, he said. From these, he has brought forth a number of hybrid varieties of great promise, by crossing his smut-resisting wheats with some of the most productive of the present varieties grown.

They were cases where a person had sustained some slight injury—a cut, a burn, a wire-prick—and where the wound, being thought not serious enough for careful treatment, had been neglected. Blood-poisoning and death resulted.

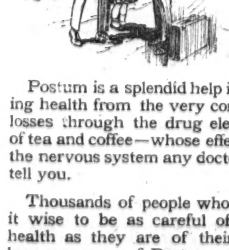
The Boy Who Started to Town With a Hundred Dollars



The advice they gave him for getting on in the world was simple and familiar enough: "Keep what you have, and build on it. Be careful what you do and it will grow into more."

It's a safe rule—with money or health, but a good many overlook the rule with health, until they have lost what they had. Then it's hard to get a new supply.

Postum is a splendid help in saving health from the very common losses through the drug elements of tea and coffee—whose effects on the nervous system any doctor can tell you.

Thousands of people who think it wise to be as careful of their health as they are of their dollars are users of Postum. They find this famous cereal beverage a delightful drink with any meal, and it's free from any disturbing element.

You can begin with Postum today, with an order to your grocer. The road to health is a good road for anybody to follow. "Save what you have, and build on it," is sound policy for everybody.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold by all grocers.

GOOD FRIDAY April 14, 1922

Dear Mr. Editor:

May I through the medium of your paper make an appeal to all Christian people in this district to keep holy Good Friday?

On this day nearly 2000 years ago the Saviour of the world shed His blood on the Cross that atonement might be made for our sins. Great indeed is the love which leads a man to die for his friends, but Christ's love is even greater. "When we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of His Son." I appeal to all Christian people to thankfully remember the day of Christ's death for them by prayer, meditation, and by reading in the New Testament the story of the First Good Friday. And further, if possible by coming to the House of Prayer for public worship.

Yours faithfully,
W. S. Wickenden.

CANADA'S PRESSING NEED FOR IMMIGRATION POLICY

Colonization and Development Expert Says First Step Towards Relieving Business Depression Is Establishment of Broad & Progressive Immigration Policy.

The immigration policy of Canada for the future is in the making. It is among the first two or three questions now before the people of this country, and no one is better fitted to advise concerning it than is Col. J. S. Dennis, of Montreal. Col. Dennis has spent fifty years dealing more or less directly with this problem. In the service of the Dominion Government in Western Canada and later with the Land Department of the Hudson's Bay Company and for the past 21 years with the C. P. R. Department of Colonization and Development, of which he is now Chief Commissioner, his activities have been largely directed towards filling Canada's vacant place with desirable settlers, producers of wealth such as are to-day more than ever needed to re-establish the prosperity of the Canadian people.

In view of the fact that the question is to-day of greater public importance than it has ever been, Col. Dennis has made a statement on the subject which will be read with interest in all parts of Canada. In voicing the need of an aggressive and progressive colonization and development policy Col. Dennis points out that it is the foundation upon which the superstructure of the solution of Canada's railway, industrial and unemployment problems must be erected, and he continues:—

"In Canada to-day we have 1 mile of railway for every 236.5 of our population, and, in the four Western Provinces, 1 mile for every 110. Compared with this, the United States has 1 mile of railway for every 404 persons, and Great Britain one mile for every 1,804.

"In the three Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, are 80 million acres of land suitable for immediate cultivation, unoccupied and non-productive, within 15 miles of each side of the railways now in operation.

"In the older provinces of Canada we have many thousands of improved farms, unoccupied and non-productive and waiting for colonists.

"The National Debt of Canada to-day is $2,372,000,000, or about $275 per capita of the population, and the annual interest on this debt amounts to $114,000,000 as compared with a total Federal revenue in 1913 of $168,000,000.

Population of Canada

"The census of 1911 showed that we then had a population of 7,206,643. The last census shows a population of 8,769,484, a growth that is even less than normal. What are we going to do about it? My answer is—"colonize and develop."

"When I say 'colonist,' I use the terms in the broad sense of the immigration to Canada of the colonist who will occupy and make productive, available agricultural areas, and, also laborers, skilled and unskilled, who will develop our mineral and timbered areas and extend our industrial life, and finally, colonization of the necessary capital to make both of the preceding activities possible.

Recalls Old Days

"During the war, and practically up to date, both our colonization and development have been standing still. We are now faced with the question of how we can again stimulate a large movement of desirable colonists to Canada and where they can be obtained.

"Naturally, as part of the British Empire, we should first look to obtaining the greatest possible number from Great Britain and Ireland.

"The present population of the United Kingdom is 47,000,000, but of this number, less than 4,000,000 are engaged in agriculture, and unless we are prepared to take a large number of colonists without any previous knowledge of agriculture we cannot look for the immigration of large numbers from Britain. Further, it would now seem to be perfectly clear that the United Kingdom, and particularly England must look forward to the emigration of many millions of its people and our policy should be aimed at co-operative action between our Government and that of the Home Country to evolve some scheme under which many of these people of the younger generation can be fitted for agricultural life in Canada by some preliminary training at home and finishing the training here, together with final assistance to enable them to establish themselves as farmers after this training has been obtained.

"We must, naturally, look for a large proportion of our agricultural colonists from the United States.

"We should also look forward to the immigration of large numbers of desirable colonists from Central Europe. While it should be our aim to maintain and extend British ideals and our Canadian citizenship, we must not forget that many who have come from so-called foreign countries are to-day amongst our most progressive and valued citizens and who have been, and are taking an active part to solve our national problems and are proving their willingness and desire to become good Canadians, as is proved by the fact that in one of our Western Universities, over 50% of the students are of so-called foreign parentage, and that, during the war, many of our military units contained upon their rolls the names of many so-called foreigners.

No British Need Apply

"Canada has no definite emigration or colonization policy at present, and, in fact, the enforcement of the existing Immigration Act, and the regulations thereunder, during the past two years has done more to discourage immigration and colonization than to encourage it. So far as Great Britain is concerned, our excessive regulations and unwarranted deportations have created a general feeling that we in Canada have closed the door and do not want British colonists.

"We have, under our existing law and regulations, a provision for the deportation of colonists who do not come to Canada on a so-called "non-continuous journey." The enforcement of this regulation has resulted in the deportation of many desirable colonists, and, if followed to its logical conclusion, the regulation to-day can be utilized to refuse admission to Canada to any desirable colonist, due to the absurd fact that he did not happen to start on his journey from the country of his nationality —and the application of this regulation will be realized by you when I say that of the deported immigrants handled by the Canadian Pacific ships during the last year, 20% were deported on the ground of non-continuous journey, irrespective entirely, apparently, of whether they were the character of colonists we wanted or whether they would have made good citizens.

COL. J. S. DENNIS,
Chief Commissioner C. P. R. Department of Colonization and Development.

"In considering the question of development, I would direct your attention to the fact that Nature has blessed us in Canada with resources of agricultural land, timber, minerals and other things which, potentially, are ample security for our vast National debt, but the possibility of taking care of and discharging that debt is entirely dependent upon our development policy. These resources, undeveloped, are of no value, and, without men and women, cannot be developed.

"I adm frankly, that, particularly, in Western Canada and in certain of our older provinces, recolonization of our unoccupied farms and agricultural development are the main factors in the problem we are discussing. But let me point out the following facts to you.

"Taking the railway traffic of Canada as an indication of wealth resulting from development. In 1920, the products of mines provided 35% of the railway tonnage, the products of the forests 18%, while agricultural products provided only 17%. It is true that these figures indicate the necessity for increasing our agricultural production, but, at the same time they point out the existing importance of the extension and further development of the products of our mines and forests, and the important part that that development will play in aiding the solution of our railway problem and in adding materially to the general welfare of Canada.

Policy Non-Political

"In conclusion I desire to affirm that the problems I am outlining are non-political, and that a policy for their solution must be developed on broad lines and with the assistance of all interests and must include, more or less, an open door, and the establishment of a well-considered, thoroughly staffed and well-administered world-wide organization to make our principles known and to ensure that we shall, through the medium of colonization and development begin now, and carry on for many years, an aggressive and progressive policy for colonization and development, through the medium of men and money, of the natural resources with which Nature has so bountifully blessed Canada."
